THE SQUIRREL

Issue 33 Thursday 18th June 2020

It has been lovely welcoming more children back to school and we have been able to open a second key worker classroom in Years 2, 4 and 5. In Year 3, we will not be able to do this for a week or so but I will let you know when this is in place. In the other year groups we are nearing our capacity and latest government guidelines have suggested that if families have previously said no to a place in school and we are now full, we may not be able to accommodate a change in request. However, we will do our very best to try and accommodate some time in school but it will be highly unlikely that you will be able to phone one day and your child return to school the next. We will need a little more time to organise classrooms and spaces. I want to try and avoid rotas but this may be something we need to look at as we receive more requests. I will keep you updated. I was reading an article about schools being fully open in Holland and this was heartening—maybe for September.

It was lovely to be able to share the September news with all the children last week and I know that some of the new staff members have already joined GoTo meetings and joined our school team to get to know the children. I am just about to finalise the transition letter and hope to have all the information by the end of the day. There will be a letter, followed by an email and a survey monkey. Please complete the survey monkey by Thursday 25th June. We will look forward to welcoming all the children for two days of transition in July. The reception team have also sent out information regarding home visits in the garden or GoTo meetings so that we can continue supporting our new children with transition the best we can under the current situation.

This week in school we had a great No Electricity Day on Monday and representatives from SSE videoed in to talk to the children about electricity, which was fascinating! There has been lots of great learning happening this week and I have really loved the artwork based on famous Japanese works of art that have been happening around the school. That is really lovely. We completed our first virtual training session with Mike Fleetham yesterday which was absolutely fine but I have to say I think I prefer face to face and I hope that we can return to this in the autumn term. It is Father's Day on Sunday and normally we would have invited our lovely gentleman into school, but unfortunately we cannot. I am however, sure the children will make your day special. Happy Father's Day.

Next week in school, it is week 8 of our Japan Topic; Endless Discovery. We also have a National Sport Week in school so on Wednesday we will be making sure that we are outside doing lots of great sports. The weather is meant to be much better next week so we will get out a little bit more.

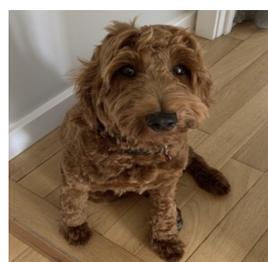

It would have been the island's Mardi Gras next week too so maybe in school and at home we could have our own Mardi Gras celebration and make carnival outfits and dance to an array of carnival sounds. Send in your pictures as I would love to see them!

Monies: Carrie has just been to see me regarding monies owed to the school. I am going to have to chase families now to pay any outstanding debts. It would be lovely if you got there before one of the team call you. Outstanding monies can be paid for on School Money or you can phone up the office and they will take a card payment over the phone. As always, if you are experiencing financial challenges then please do give Carrie a call and we can organise a payment plan to support both you and the school.

We are just about to receive a big delivery of school uniform ready for September. Again, this can be ordered online or through the school office ready for collection. The office team are happy to help with any of your queries.

This week we reviewed our risk assessment in school and made some changes to it from the experiences that we have had so far. One of the things that I am considering stopping is the temperatures checks in the morning. This was never a recommendation from the guidance but we made the decision to put these in place to bring reassurance. However, I now feel that we are at a point that if a child has a continuous cough and feels hot on their chest or back we will then take their temperature in the classroom and call home if we need to. I will confirm this by text if we feel this is an appropriate time to stop temperatures being taken in the morning. All other hygiene including hand washing will continue. The children have been brilliant in school with the changes and we are very proud of how well they have adapted.

Daisy had her first haircut this week and is feeling much cooler ready for the sunshine and heat that is due next week. Just a reminder about putting on sun cream before school and hats are a good idea too. I will ask Miss Westbrook if the ice cream van could come for another visit too!

TRICK BOX

This week's Trick:

Sunny Side

TRICK BOX

Why?

Things have a habit of sometimes not going the way we expect. When this happens, we need a mental strategy to cope well. If we do not, our brain can develop negative thinking patterns and demotivated states. If we do have positive thinking patterns though, our brain becomes more flexible in finding solutions by learning to reframe how we think about events.

How?

When things do not go as planned we can think about it in two ways. If my TV doesn't work just as I am about to watch my favourite show, I could think this is so rubbish! Why does this always happen to me! Or instead I could choose a sunnier response - this is good as now I can go outside and have some exercise.

Here's some more examples-

If your friends don't want to play with you ...choose the sunny side- I can now play with someone else.

I don't like my lunch... choose the sunny side- at least I won't be hungry.

I can't catch the ball at all... choose the sunny side- it will be fun practising and getting better.

Give it a go! The more you practise, the more natural it will be!

Cleaning Vacancy:

We have a cleaning vacancy in school for 2 or 2.5 hours an evening Mon-Fri. Please call us for an application form if you are interested.
